Give your retirement savings a boost instead.

Income 150+ SE fixed index annuity builds guaranteed lifetime income from day one with down market protection.

What is a fixed index annuity (FIA)?

- An FIA is a long-term savings vehicle that offers tax-deferred potential growth that may be linked to a market index (or indices).
- FIAs are insurance contracts, not registered securities or stock market investments – you're never invested in the index itself with an FIA.
- FIAs (like Income 150+) typically feature downside market protection.
- An FIA may help offset the ups and downs of equities (like mutual funds) in a retirement strategy.

Income 150+ FIA
the basics

Generates guaranteed income with predictable growth
Income 150+ FIA helps build a stream of guaranteed lifetime income[1] with steady growth[2] to the contract.

Personalized growth potential
You are given the option to grow your money through a broad array of index-linked interest crediting strategies as well as a fixed rate strategy.

Down market protection
No matter how you choose to potentially grow your money, negative market performance will never reduce it.

Additional income for a qualified healthcare need
Income 150+ FIA offers the optional Income Enhancement Benefit,[3] at no additional cost, that doubles your guaranteed annual income amount for up to five years.[4,5]

Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of Forethought Life Insurance Company and assumes compliance with the product's benefit rules, as applicable.

[1] Assuming no excess withdrawals. Early withdrawal charges and Market Value Adjustments (MVA) may apply. Withdrawals may reduce any optional guaranteed amounts in an amount more than the amount of the withdrawal.

[2] The income benefit is included on date of issue for an annual charge of 1.05% of the Withdrawal Base at the end of each contract year deducted from the contract value. Cost may vary by Withdrawal Charge Period. The Withdrawal Base is a separate numerical value used to help determine the amount of future income. It is not available for cash surrender or as a death benefit.

[3] Not available in California. The Rider is not long-term care insurance and is not intended to replace such coverage. It is referred to as the Annual Payment Accelerator Rider in the contract.

[4] The benefit is available only if your contract value is above the minimum allowed under the Income Enhancement Benefit.

[5] Once the Income Enhancement Benefit period ends, a new benefit period is no longer available. The Income Enhancement Benefit may be used only one time per contract.

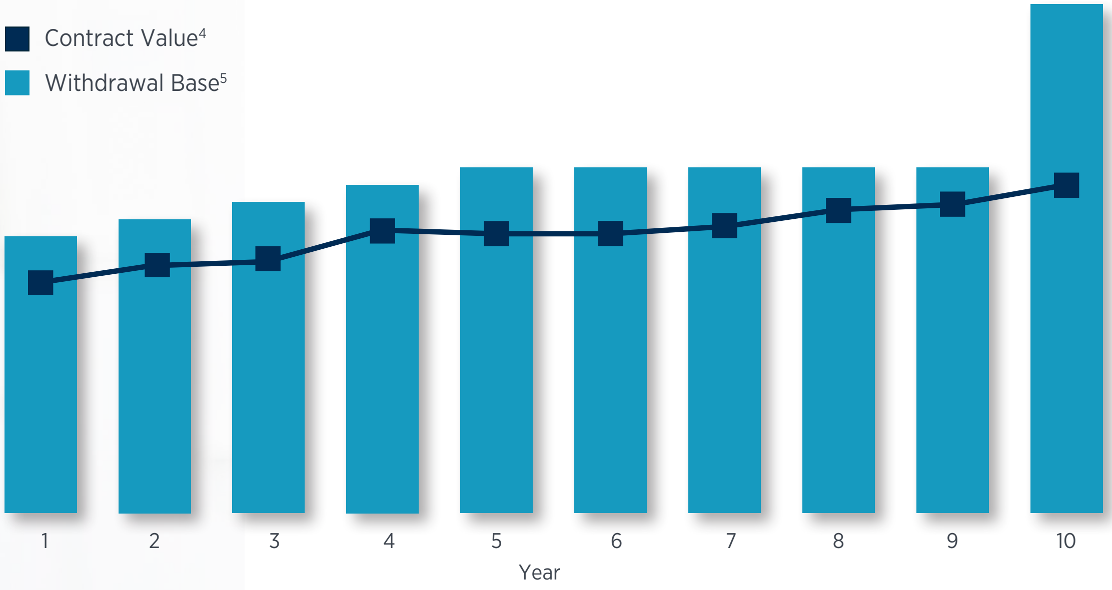
How does Income 150+ FIA work?

Your Income 150+ FIA may grow your future guaranteed income through two different buckets: the contract value and the Withdrawal Base.

The contract value is the annuity account balance that may grow through your choice of a broad array of index linked interest crediting strategies. It is also, less any applicable charges, the surrender value, which is the money you can walk away with should you decide to cancel, or "surrender" the annuity.[1]

The Withdrawal Base is a value that will help determine your guaranteed income amount. This bucket grows[2] predictably over the years through several increases prior to activating your guaranteed income.[3]

Both the contract value and the Withdrawal Base grow with downside protection, meaning your values are locked in and can never decline due to poor market performance.



[1] A withdrawal charge and MVA may be incurred if you withdraw all or a portion of your money during the withdrawal charge period.

[2] The income benefit is included on date of issue for an annual charge of 1.05% of the Withdrawal Base at the end of each contract year deducted from the contract value. The Withdrawal Base is a separate numerical value used to help determine the amount of future income. It is not available for cash surrender or as a death benefit.

[3] Income Boosts, also known as Deferral Bonuses, are based on premium paid, adjusted for withdrawals, and credited to the Withdrawal Base, reduced for any withdrawal in proportion to the reduction in contract value.

[4] Contract value figures are reflective of an index-linked strategy selection and guaranteed income deferred at least 10 years.

[5] Withdrawal Base figures assume no withdrawals and reflective of income being deferred for at least 10 years.

How to boost your income for sooner or later

Income 150+ FIA, grows your Withdrawal Base through steady, predictable bonuses called Income Boosts,[1,2,3] — so you can just relax and watch your Withdrawal Base grow, whether you need income sooner or later.

Let's walk you through a scenario to help explain how Income Boosts work.

Meet Scott

Scott is nearing retirement at age 67. He's interested in giving his retirement savings a boost by purchasing Income 150+ FIA with a $100,000 initial premium. He's not sure if he'd like to start receiving guaranteed income sooner or later, so he's examining both options.

1 The income benefit is included on date of issue for an annual charge of 1.05% of the Withdrawal Base at the end of each contract year deducted from the contract value. Cost may vary by Withdrawal Charge Period. The Withdrawal Base is a separate numerical value used to help determine the amount of future income. It is not available for cash surrender or as a death benefit.

2 Income Boosts, also known as Deferral Bonuses, are based on premium paid, adjusted for withdrawals, and credited to the Withdrawal Base, reduced for any withdrawal in proportion to the reduction in contract value.

3. Each boost value assumes income has not started and withdrawals have not been made. The Withdrawal Base and Income Boosts are not available on cash surrender or as death benefits.

If Scott needs income sooner

Scott's contract receives Income Boosts beginning on day ONE.

His first Income Boost is a 20% boost credited to Scott's Withdrawal Base, based on his initial purchase amount. In other words, Scott's initial purchase of $100,000[1] would result in a $120,000[1] Withdrawal Base on the very first day of the contract!

Then, on day one of the contract year for the next four years, Scott would receive additional 7.5% Income Boosts based on his original purchase amount, assuming no withdrawals. In Scott's case, he would receive $7,500[1] each year for four years, totaling in $30,000[1] credited to his Withdrawal Base.

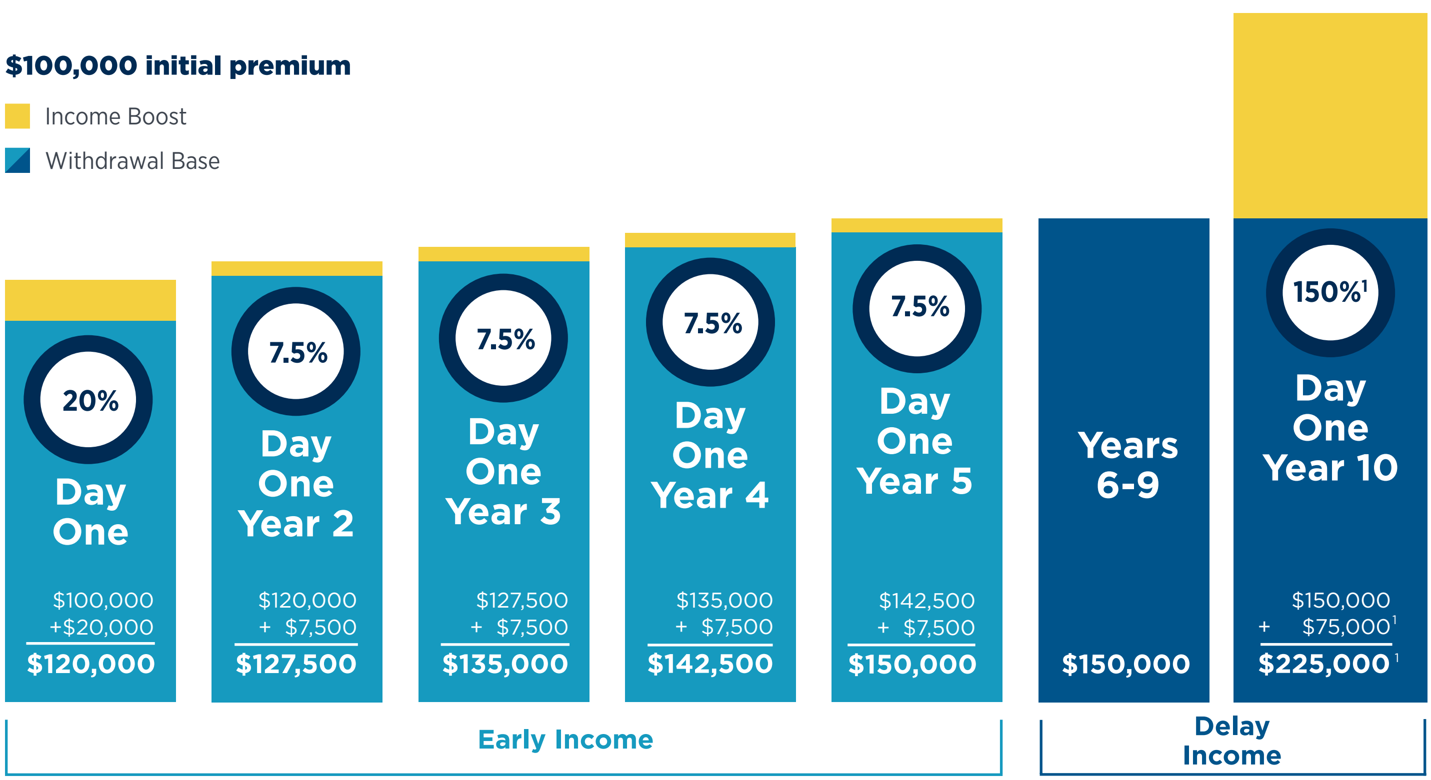
At any point, Scott can opt to activate his guaranteed lifetime income. However his Withdrawal Base will no longer increase and he is no longer eligible to receive additional Income Boosts. Scott's contract value may continue to grow even after activating his guaranteed lifetime income.

...or later

If Scott decides to defer his guaranteed income for at least 10 years from his purchase date, his Withdrawal Base may receive the largest Income Boost.

This Income Boost is credited on day one of year 10, equaling 150%[2] of all the interest credits he may have earned for the first nine years of his annuity contract (adjusted for withdrawals).[3] For example, if Scott earned $50,000 in interest credits during years one through nine, he would receive a $75,000 Income Boost at the beginning of year 10, totaling $125,000 credited to his Withdrawal Base within 10 years.

After year 10, Scott would have fully maxed out his Income Boost potential, but again, his contract value may continue to grow even after activating his guaranteed lifetime income.



[1] This amount is hypothetical and is shown for illustration only.

[2] Year 10 Deferral Bonus is 150% of interest earned on the contract value, reduced proportionately for any withdrawals, during years one through nine.

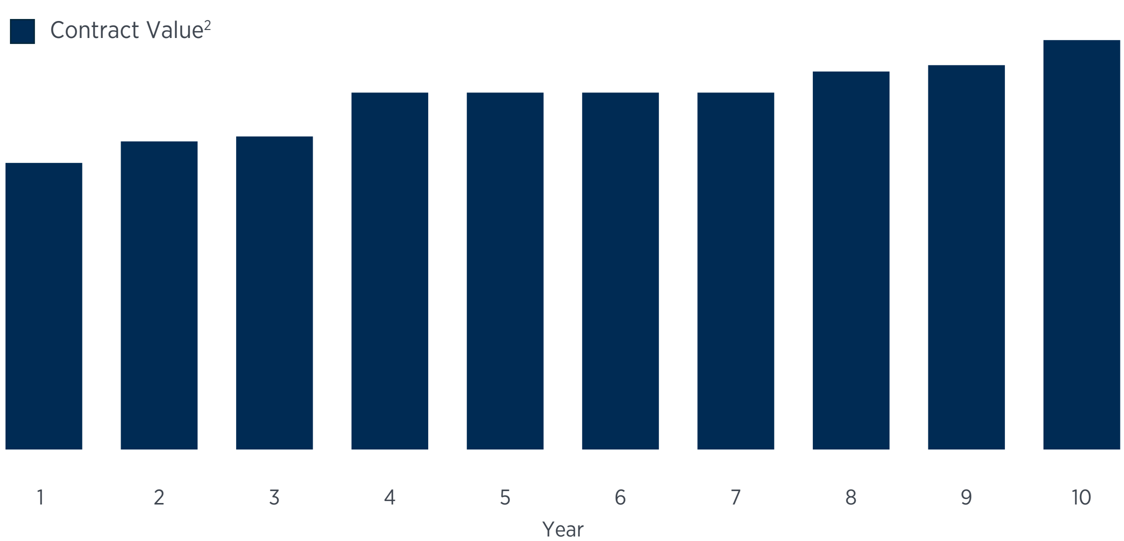
[3] Deferral Bonuses are only available prior to income activation, referred to as the Activation Date in the contract. Withdrawals reduce income growth when taken prior to income activation.

Personalize your contract value's growth potential

Watching the market can be stressful, especially when you're nearing retirement. Income 150+ FIA has the potential to grow your money, tax-deferred with downside protection, so you'll never lose your growth due to poor market performance.[1]

Income 150+ FIA offers a variety of interest-crediting strategies to confidently grow your contract value knowing your gains are locked in. Those strategies are:

- A strategy for steady growth: Income 150+ FIA's fixed rate crediting strategy can help you grow your contract value tax-deferred at a competitive annual fixed rate.
- Strategies for more growth potential: The interest your contract value may earn can be linked to the performance of an index, such as the S&P 500®, or your choice from several other indices. Based on the index crediting option selected and the interest credited throughout the first nine contract years, your potential to generate larger income payments may increase as well.



Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of Forethought Life Insurance Company and assumes compliance with the product's benefit rules, as applicable.

[1] The income benefit is included on date of issue for an annual charge of 1.05% of the Withdrawal Base at the end of each contract year deducted from the contract value. The Withdrawal Base is a separate numerical value used to help determine the amount of future income. It is not available for cash surrender or as a death benefit.

[2] Contract value figures are reflective of an index-linked strategy selection.

How is the guaranteed lifetime income payout calculated?

Let's put this all together to show you how your guaranteed lifetime income amount is calculated.

When you choose to start receiving your guaranteed income, the amount is calculated using these three factors:

- the age at which you'd like to start receiving your guaranteed income,[1,2]
- the amount your Withdrawal Base has grown to,
- and whether you elect to receive guaranteed income for yourself or for both yourself and your spouse.

Ready to activate your guaranteed lifetime income?

You only have to make two decisions:

1. When you'd like to start receiving lifetime income.
2. If the lifetime income will be paid to just yourself, or to both yourself and your spouse.

Imagine this: Let's continue Scott's story. He had purchased Income 150+ FIA at

At age 72, Scott's Withdrawal Base has grown to $150,000 and he's decided to activate his guaranteed income. He elects to receive joint-lifetime income so that he and his spouse, Linda, will receive a paycheck for life.[1]

Based on the lifetime withdrawal percentages found on page 8, Scott and Linda would receive 5.05%[2] of his $150,000 Withdrawal Base – or $7,575 – every year for life.

That means that even after Scott's passing, Linda can keep receiving that same $7,575 every year for the rest of her life.[1]

If they both should pass, Scott and Linda's beneficiaries can receive the remainder of the contract value, if any.[1]

Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of Forethought Life Insurance Company and assumes compliance with the product's benefit rules, as applicable.

[1] Assuming no excess withdrawals. Early withdrawal charges and Market Value Adjustments (MVA) may apply. Withdrawals may reduce any optional guaranteed amounts in an amount more than the amount of the withdrawal.

Additional income for the unpredictable

The Income Enhancement Benefit,[1,2] if selected, will double your guaranteed lifetime income for up to five years should you or your spouse face a qualifying healthcare need[3] – included at no additional cost.

Here are the details:

- The Income Enhancement Benefit is an optional benefit available for both single and joint lifetime income.
- You must be 75 or younger at the time of the Income 150+ FIA purchase.
- The benefit may only be elected after guaranteed income has been activated.[3,4]
- You must be certified by a licensed healthcare practitioner as being unable to perform at least two of the six Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) to be eligible for the Income Enhancement Benefit.[5]
- Once the benefit period ends, you return to receiving the original guaranteed income amount for the rest of your life.[6] age 67 and has now decided to activate his guaranteed lifetime income at age 72.

One year after Scott and Linda activated their guaranteed lifetime income,[3,4] unfortunately, Linda experiences an unexpected health setback.

Next, Scott and Linda visit their licensed healthcare practitioner where they certify that Linda is unable to perform at least two of the six ADLs. Knowing there will likely be new healthcare expenses, they decide to activate the Income Enhancement Benefit,[3] at no extra cost, providing them with $15,150 each year for up to five years.[5]

Six Activities of Daily Living (ADLs)

- Bathing
- Eating
- Continence
- Dressing
- Transferring
- Toileting

While Linda recovers over the course of the next five years, Scott and Linda receive $75,750 in total. That is an extra $37,875 that may be used to help afford their unforeseen healthcare expenses. At the end of the Income Enhancement Benefit period, Scott and Linda return to receiving their annual income payments of $7,575 for the rest of their lives.[6]

[1] Not available in California. The Rider is not long-term care insurance and is not intended to replace such coverage. It is referred to as the Annual Payment Accelerator Rider in the contract.
[2] The benefit is available only if your contract value is above the minimum allowed under the Income Enhancement Benefit.
[3] The contract value must exceed the greater of a) the Minimum Contract Value; and b) the doubled Lifetime Annual Payment (LAP) at the time of activation and on each Contract Anniversary in order to exercise/continue the benefit or else it will be terminated.
[4] There is a one-year waiting period and a 90-day elimination period prior to receiving benefits.
[5] Recertification by a healthcare professional is required prior to years three, four, and five, if applicable.
[6] Once the Income Enhancement Benefit period ends, a new benefit period is no longer available. The Income Enhancement Benefit may be used only one time per contract.

How do you continue to receive guaranteed income for life?

When you start receiving income, guaranteed lifetime income payments come from the contract value, not the Withdrawal Base. As long as you don't take excess withdrawals, your income never goes down due to receiving lifetime income payments, even if your contract value is depleted.

Here's how:

Your guaranteed income amount is calculated using your Withdrawal Base amount. So, this can never be reduced due to receiving guaranteed lifetime income payments.

Your income comes from your contract value. As you continue to receive your guaranteed lifetime income, your contract value will reduce. However, even when it does deplete, you will still continue to receive guaranteed lifetime income.

Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of Forethought Life Insurance Company and assumes compliance with the product's benefit rules, as applicable.

If you are purchasing a fixed index annuity through a tax-advantaged retirement plan such as an IRA, you will receive no additional tax advantage from a fixed index annuity. Under these circumstances, you should only consider buying a fixed index annuity if it makes sense because of the annuity's other features, such as lifetime income payments and death benefit protection.
